"This keynote was hands down my ABSOLUTE FAVORITE ever!!!!"

Audiences are tired of speakers who get them all jazzed up but leave them with nothing specific to do. They are excited to take action but just don't know what action to take. Audiences today want tools. They want specific strategies and ideas that they can put in place today.

Jason A Hunt can deliver! With over 20 years of delivering presentations, he has mastered the perfect combination of entertainment and tools. He gets them motivated and shows them exactly what to do with their motivation. His messages on LEADERSHIP, INFLUENCE, and SELF-DEVELOPMENT have impacted people all across the world because the people in his audiences have used his tools and taken action.

Uncommon Leadership: Leading by Giving a CRAP™

We all yearn to lead lives filled with purpose, and the surest path to achieving this is by Giving a CRAP. Leadership isn't about flashy titles or prestigious offices—it's about caring deeply for those around you. When you Celebrate, Recognize, Appreciate, and Praise (CRAP) the individuals in your sphere—be it your team, family, community, or organization—you ignite inspiration and create genuine connections. By embracing this ethos, you transcend ordinary leadership and become part of the Uncommon Leadership movement. Dare to make a difference; dare to Give a CRAP.

Mind Your Monkeys

Overworked? Stressed out? Too much on your plate? Well, these could be symptoms that you're taking on responsibilities that are not actually yours. Leaders learn how to delegate well and they know how to keep those delegated responsibilities on the backs of their employees. In this message, learn how to effectively empower others, how to create critical thinkers, and how to develop the next bench of leaders all the while earning you more time to focus on the most important things. It's time to mind your monkeys!

Own Your Momentum

Life can be disappointing - not getting that promotion, KPI's not being met, a dysfunctional team, the business not growing, or maybe you're stuck in a mid-life crisis. Most of us set goals, desiring to get the better things in life, but that actually doesn't work. Success is not based on goals that are met and then forgotten. It is based on your daily habits and actions. In this deeply personal message, learn how to own the momentum of your life and find out what is really possible with you, your team, and your organization.
